Utilises web interactivity

The interactivePlus report introduces a new level of information display, with fully dynamic graphs that show the historical trends of the Credit Guide, Risk Level and Graydon's Augur Score (a measurement of financial stress).

Users can manipulate the graph to show the performance trends over a six year period, alternatively change the timescale to a shorter period to show more compact variances.

We have utilised Graydon for several years and have been more than satisfied with the expertise and support offered in addition to the credit information supplied. The additional data contained within the reporting service is outstanding and in my opinion, second to none.

I can't speak highly enough of Graydon and in particular its up-to-date data and back-up support from all areas of the business from Customer Services through to the account management.

We love the online system; it's easy on the eye, to the point and easy to use. Graydon's assessments of potential customers has saved us money during these hard economic times. We are definitely looking at the quality of our customers, not the quantity.
